SOUTH CAROLINA BAR

YOUNG LAWYERS DIVISION

COMMITTEES

Fellow Young Lawyers,

You are part of the South Carolina Bar Young Lawyers Division (YLD), which comprises all those lawyers under 36 years of age, or those admitted to the South Carolina Bar as their first bar for less than five years. Since South Carolina is a mandatory bar, more than 70 percent of you have done little to be part of this organization other than fit into one of the two before mentioned criteria. There is no need for concern, as that all changes today. We have for you a list of committees where you will certainly want to provide your time, talents and tenacity in an effort to better your life and the lives of all South Carolinians.

The YLD provides services to fellow Bar members and the public. It does not matter whether you want to help plan the parties for the annual Convention or provide wills and tax assistance to fellow South Carolinians. Like your country, "We want you!" As past recipients of the Young Lawyer of the Year Award have demonstrated through their balance of Bar service, family and profession, there is little room for excuses. I know not everyone strives for or cares about winning awards, but keep this quote in mind I learned from an "old textbook"—From everyone who has been given much, much will be demanded, and from the one who has been entrusted with much, much more will be asked.

You worked tirelessly to get where you are at this point in your life with higher education and bar certification, and now you are somewhere between forging out on your own and working in the hallowed halls of one those fancy ivory tower firms. What you will learn if you haven't already is that no matter how many hours you bill and how much money you make, some of your fondest and most fulfilling memories will come from the simplest things. There is no legal jargon or meaning behind the meaning here; we just want you to be an active part of the YLD. The simplest way to do that is by donating your time, talents and tenacity to one of these committees and/or volunteering for one of the many events hosted by these committees.

Thank you,

Floyd S. "Trey" Mills III

ORGANIZATION
of the Young Lawyers Division

The South Carolina Bar Young Lawyers Division (Division) was founded in 1974 to foster principles of duty and service to the public, promote professional responsibility, stimulate the interest of young lawyers in Bar activities, conduct programs of interest and value to young lawyers, and to assist in the coordination and improvement of local young lawyer organizations.

All lawyers practicing in South Carolina are licensed through the South Carolina Supreme Court and are mandatory members of the South Carolina Bar. All members of the South Carolina Bar in good standing under 36 years of age, or those admitted to the South Carolina Bar as their first bar for less than five years, are members of the Division. The Executive Council is the governing body of the Division. The Executive Council is composed of a president, president-elect, secretary-treasurer, immediate past president, an out of state circuit representative, a circuit representative from each judicial circuit, the ABA/YLD representative (in alternating years), a law student representative from the University of South Carolina School of Law and from the Charleston School of Law, and others appointed by the Division President during his or her term as President.

The Division is an affiliate of the Young Lawyers Division of the American Bar Association and sends representatives to the annual and mid-year meetings and to spring and fall conferences. As an affiliate of the American Bar Association Young Lawyers Division, the South Carolina Bar YLD and its affiliated organizations share District 10 with the U.S. Virgin Islands.

The South Carolina Bar Young Lawyers Division has enjoyed a momentum of prosperity since it was formed in 1974. The organization has blossomed from a small group brainstorming about projects to an award-winning organization of approximately 3,600 lawyers tackling and conquering myriads of community service and Bar member projects.

The Young Lawyers Division strives to sponsor projects that have a positive impact upon South Carolina's communities. It has been consistently recognized by the ABA in national competitions for its service to the public and service to its members. Service to the public includes projects and programming focused on a variety of topics, including education on preventing domestic violence, civics education, adoption and foster care awareness, and assisting those with intellectual disabilities. Service to Bar members includes implementing programs which provide networking opportunities with other professional organizations, planning small gatherings with members of the judiciary, and increasing attendance at the Bar Convention in January.

The Division offers opportunities for young lawyers to improve the image of the legal profession and fulfill their public service goals. The Division has numerous committees with special projects to be completed. It also coordinates social events to give young lawyers around the state opportunities to network and learn about each other.

SERVICE to the Bar

ANNUAL BAR CONVENTION COMMITTEE

Promotes YLD's involvement with the S.C. Bar Convention by planning, organizing and implementing a CLE program and attendance incentive event. The CLE component will offer a program that is of interest to young lawyers and provide at least three CLE credit hours for attendees. The attendance incentive event will be a social gathering for members of the YLD and their guests. Its purposes are to increase young lawyer participation at the Convention and in Bar/YLD activities. Additionally, the committee will be responsible for planning and organizing a meeting for the YLD Executive Council, committee chairs and co-chairs.

BLSA SYMPOSIUM & CAREER FAIR COMMITTEE

In conjunction with the Black Law Student Association, this committee will provide students in South Carolina with resources, support, guidance and practical expectations associated with the practice of law by planning and implementing a symposium and career fair. While targeted to minority students, all students are welcome to attend the BLSA Symposium and Career Fair, which will include panel discussions on diversity issues in the legal field and ways in which diversity can be increased. The career fair will be held in conjunction with the symposium, and law firms and other potential employers will be invited to participate for the purpose of hiring summer law clerks.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE

This committee hosts programs to assist young lawyers in becoming successful in the profession by partnering with other young professional organizations, including the Young Bankers Division, the S.C. Association of Certified Public Accountants and the National Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors of S.C., for events and CLEs throughout the 16 circuits in South Carolina. Focusing on issues relevant to young professionals and facilitating networking opportunities for young lawyers with other young professionals, this committee will plan and oversee several events throughout the year.

PUBLICATIONS & MARKETING COMMITTEE

Members of this committee prepare and update YLD publications and work closely with the Bar to promote and market YLD events and service projects. In addition, this committee is responsible for collecting and editing articles for the Division's newsletter, South Carolina Young Lawyer, which is distributed quarterly. This newsletter is one of the YLD's prize-winning projects and contains committee reports, upcoming events, member spotlights, practical tips and other items of interest to young lawyers.

CINDERELLA PROJECT

Celebrating its 12th season, the Cinderella Project involves gathering donations of gently worn formal gowns, shoes and accessories for socially and economically disadvantaged high school students. Students from area high schools are invited to attend a boutique held in the spring to “shop” for a dress and other items at no cost. Members of this committee assist with collecting the dresses, organizing the boutiques and assisting the belles of the ball (the high school prom ladies) as they “shop” on the day of the boutique.

iCIVICS COMMITTEE

iCivics is a web-based education project designed to teach students about civics and inspire them to be active participants and leaders in our democracy. Members of this committee will assist with implementing this program throughout South Carolina by planning and sponsoring three conferences to teach educators how to implement iCivics in their classrooms. Additionally, members of this committee will participate in various other educational programs to showcase iCivics and generate interest. This project is co-sponsored by the federal judges of the Fourth Circuit, the S.C. Defense Trial Attorneys' Association and other organizations.
